

Grasslands Naturalists Communications Committee 2023

Submitted by Corlaine Gardner, committee chair

Our Communications Committee continues to provide the basics of keeping members informed about opportunities and activities relating to the club.

Milt Spitzer continues to edit our Sagebrush Chronicle, with a variety of articles and notices about upcoming events.

Paul Thibault manages our website. This is an extensive undertaking and may be an underused resource. All members are encouraged to check it out and recognize the depth of material on our website. Our Birding Trail, wildflower brochure, and scenic views background material are all there to satisfy your curiosity.

Tina Regher manages the Facebook page, posting notices of meetings and events run by the Naturalists. Members can contribute photos and ideas to her.

Alicia Lew, as Chief Interpreter, manages our dynamic Interpretive Program. Many people forget that it is an important part of Grasslands Naturalists.

Our committee is always looking for more ideas and members. We also need volunteers to help out at events.
